"Seki-den" and "BLUE STEEL", our trade secrets that have been refined and strengthened over a long history of 800 years. These secrets give birth to swords and knives from one of the best craftsmen in Japan, Master Kanetsune Seki, who observes all of our secret traditions.

Strong, beautiful, razor sharp... a most amazing blade!

Seki City, the City of Blades, is the 800-year-old blade capital of the Orient. In Seki City we have the greatest number of Japanese sword craftsmen in all Japan, actively work on passing down the inimitable craft and tradition of Japanese sword-making from generation to generation, and intent upon introducing these excellent swords from Japan to the world.

Kanetsune Seki is one of the few master craftsmen of Japanese swords. The Master inherited Seki-den, 800 years of secrets that create extraordinarily sharp Japanese swords, yet will not fracture or bend. Kanetsune Seki creates notable swords. Their delicate feeling of balance, distinctive quality, and reliable razor sharpness are always true to their name.

Many of the knives forged by the master craftsman Kanetsune Seki are made of blue steel, a type of ultra-high carbon steel. Blue steel, which has been used for creating Japanese hunting knives from ancient times, has long-lasting sharpness and repels oils.

Knives formed from blue steel reveal the wonder of their sharpness.

Blue steel, which remains most popular among Japanese hunters, is the superlative variety for select people. Knives that the master craftsman Kanetsune Seki forges from blue steel employing the secret art of seki-den possess incredible sharpness.
